

Automobile Service Engineering Major

In order to meet the needs of social and economic development in Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei Region, the major is committed to cultivating application-oriented high-quality talents of comprehensive development in moral, intellectual, physical, aesthetic field, who are equipped with automobile applied technology and service theory, and are able to master modern information technology, management knowledge and relevant laws and regulations, and have the comprehensive ability and quality of integrating technology, management and service, and be able to engage in technology and production management, inspection, maintenance, vehicle insurance and claim settlement, appraisal and evaluation and marketing management in automobile and parts enterprises, automobile maintenance industry, automobile insurance industry and automobile circulation field, and gradually grow into senior talents in the fields of automobile technical service, vehicle insurance and claim settlement and automobile marketing.

List of Core Curriculum

1	Automobile structure
2	Automobile electrical device& instrument
3	Automobile insurance & claim
4	Automobile marketing principle & application
5	Automobile theory
6	New energy vehicle technology
7	Vehicle detection and fault diagnosis technology
8	Used motor vehicle identification & evaluation